shopping

The Naples shopping scene is almost nonpareil. High fashion distinguishes this town, and the appreciation for interior design and antiques is well-established. Marissa Collections is credited with fueling the fashion scene, and retailers and residents have responded with equal passion. At the home shops, you'll find plenty of tableware, stationary, and linens - people love to entertain here. And the art and antiques options are impressive, offering pieces that work well in the city's grande estates.
